PRIVATE EMAIL ADDRESSES

Have you noticed how difficult it is to work with "free" e-mail like Hotmail or AOL these days? 95% of the mail you get is junk and you can only store a certain number of emails before they ask you to buy more space.

There is a solution and not only does it solve these problems but it improves many areas you may not of thought about.

How about an e-mail address that will never have to change, even if you choose a new Internet Service Provider (ISP) for your connection?

An e-mail address that sounds more professional. An inbox that allows you to send and receive large files.

What's included?

25 private e-mail addresses with your business's own domain name. Plenty of e-mail addresses for each of your employees and even an address to collect suggestions and complaints, or for bill-paying purposes.

Get rid of the junk

YOUR OWN WEBSITE

First, I will help you choose a good Internet domain name for your business: your business's own www address. This will likely stay with your business for many years so it is an important decision not to be taken lightly. We can evaluate what is available now and in the future.

25 e-mail address at your domain name

Once your domain name is registered I will set up your company e-mail and web hosting service for you. The service I use to host your new website is reputable and has redundant servers and Internet connections. Basically, these means your website and e-mail address will always be on-line and ready for your customers, regardless of your computers or even your local Internet provider.

My basic plan includes the set up and maintenance of your e-mail and a simple website. After that, I can train someone on your staff to add and delete e-mail addresses and edit your web page.

The basic webpage is usually just a single page that has your company information. I also offer website development to create a complete website for your company should you desire. Costs depend on the complexity of the site you need.

FOR MORE THAN JUST YOUR BUSINESS

Not only is this service available to your business, but I often find families that are interested in a personal website. This is a great opportunity to share pictures and details of your life with your family and friends. You also receive private e-mail addresses to reduce the amount of junk e-mail. This is ideal for families with children.
